CONGRESS.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, March 3.

The Intelligencer.

The suspension of Zug & Co., proprietors of the Sable Iron Works, Pittsburgh, is announced this morning. The firm has been reported in trouble for some time past. They manufacture only have iron as the control of the Iron Manufacture only have iron & a control of the Iron Intelligencer. It has been a wonder to many of the readers of the INTELLIGENCER that we are not regaled occasionally with a summary of events as they occur in this city among the hills. We have a population of eight or nine hundred and we continue to grow from year to year like other than the property of the Iron Intelligencer.

in connection with the denouncement that has occurred in Belknap's case and the suspicions that are entertained in regard to Delano and Babcock, the odor of things in official life at Washington will smell very rank in the nostrils of the country. As it is, the smell is by no means pleasant. It is quite sufficient to make thousands of people turn up their noses at the mere mention of "third term," who, a few days ago, could brook to listen to arguments on that subject with tolerable complacency.

A dispatch in yesterday's Cincinnati Gazette says that Blackburn, of the Investigating Committee, says they are determined to go through the whole War "Officials high in position, entitled eagles, shall be eviscerated." He says that "the next quarter in which there will be a toppling will be in the Judge Advocate General's Department, and after that in the Quartermaster General's Department; and between the present position of General Belknap and that of General Rufus Ingalls, inside of thirty days, there will not be the toss of a cent."

"The President of the United States is to be asked to rescind the orders of Quarrmaster-General Meigs, requiring his bence abroad, so that he shall place his on American soil and be within bailiwick of the committee, when he will be summoned to testify to important measures involving the Quartermaster-General's Department. In a word, Gen. Ingalls and several other officials are now as completely in the hand of the committee as Secretary Belknap. The whole thing, from beginning to end, to use the words of Mr. Blackburn, is rotten to the core.

When Senator Cameron was told of the fall of Belknap he repeated the words terrible! terrible!" And then, according to the Gazette's special, he went on to "This comes, said he, from Grant's system of appointments. He had frequently told him that he ought not to put obscure men in high positions. He always had a lot of these unknown characters around him. The only way for people to live, said he, is within their means. Mr. Buchanan and myself used to pay from $8 to $10 a week for board and two rooms, and we lived well. The Scripture is right—"Lead us not into temptation."

The Washington Star says that the Secretary's tall had its origin in his wife's weakness for display. Says that paper:

weakness for display. Says that paper:
"It seems to be understood that the bargaining was originally made with Secretary Belknap's late wife, a sister of the

that the wrong doing originated not in any greed for money for its own sake, but through feminine weakness, desiring to

We have understood, in a general way, for several months past, that Mr. Danford felt inclined to devote his attention to private affairs after the close of his present term as Congressman, but have always considered that he might possibly change his determination. We have also observed, as we have thought, a growing determination on the part of the leading Republicans of the District to leading Republicans of the District to ask and insist upon Mr. Danford's acceptance of the nomination for a third term, and we have not the least doubt that the nomination would have been Since to some man for President who has not been near that city for some time. It would be just like Gov. Hayes' uniform good luck to be benefitted by what has happened. The location of the Convention at Cincinnati was point number one in his favor, and now comes point number two.

The Washington Scandal.

A Washington special to yesterday's fincinnal Commercial says that "well informed persons assert positively that it will be shown before the close of the session that Belkmap, Babcock, Boss Shepherd, Robeson, Ingalls and Horace Porter have constituted a ring, and made a great deal of money by farming out offices."

As is well known, Robeson is Secretary of the Navy, and Ingalls Quartermaster General. If there should be anything in this dispatch about them, is connection with the denouncement

The Late [Secretary of War.
WASHINGTON, March 3.—Belknap has not left his house since yesterday, and in the meantime has been called upon by a few intimate friends.
Secretary Robeson this morning entereid upon his conditioned duties as Acting Secretary of War. He will merely attend to routine business until the vacancy is filled.

NOMINATIONS.

The President has nominated Charles T. Gortan, of Michigan, to be Assistant Secretary of the Interior, vice B. R. Cowan resigned; Henry P. Farrow as U. S. Attorney for the Northern and Southern Districts of Georgia; John M. Gray to be Commissioner of Police for the District of Columbia, vice Wm. H. THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE. Senator Robertson's bill to restore the Senator Robertsons but to resort the franking privilege provides simply for the repeal of the act of January 31, 1873, which abolished it, and its immediate renewal in the form in which it existed at the time of the passage of said act.

Mr. Springer asked leave to introduce a resolution instructing the Committee on Ways and Means to inquire whether the recent grand jury investigation into the frauds on the revenue have been sufficiently thorough to expose all defects in the laws for the collection of the whisky tax and to expose the persons engaged in defrauding the Government; also, whether any further investigation should be ordered by the House.

Mr. Townsend, of New York, objected.

Mr. Clymer (Chairman of the Committee) made the following report: In obedience to the order of the House, we proceeded to the bar of the Senate, and in the name of this House and of all the people of the United States of America impeached, as we were directed to, Wm. W. Belknap, late Secretary of War of the United States, of high crimes and misdemeanors while in office, and we demanded that the Senate should take an order to make him appear before that body to answer for the same. He also announced that the House would soon present the articles of impeachment and he therefore asked the Attorney General to take immediate steps to proceed with the criminal charges against General Belknap and Messrs. Marsh and Tomlinson, and all others shown by any-evidence that shall be adduced to have had part in the fearful transactions that were the subject of attention. On this determination of the President that determination as the President had determined upon without delay. opinion favoring such action as the Fresi-dent had determined upon without delay. The peculiar character of the case of General Belknap's offense, differing in many respects as it does from an ordi-nary case of bribery, was a subject of comment and discussion, the result of which was the reference of the entire mat-ter to the Attorney General, who will take the necessary steps to enter the pro-ceedings just as soon as the facts can be present the articles of impeachment and make them good, to which the response was made that the order shall be taken The Committee retired, and the routin business of the House proceeded.

ARMY OFFICERS.

Mr. Banning from the Committee on Military Affairs reported a bill in regard to the leave of absence of army officers. It authorizes a leave of absence to the officer on duty for sixty days once in two years; three months once in three years, and four months once in four years, without a deduction of pay or allowance. Passed. cecuming just as soon as inches can be put in a shape to be sworn to. As a part of the discussion it is said there should be no delay in the proceedings because of the progress of an impeachment trial. The two trials will be enment trial. The two trials will be entirely independent of each other.

Judge Pierpont remained at the Executive Mansion for a short time after the Cabinet officers had gone to their respective departments, for the purpose of getting what facts the President might be possessed of in accordance with the determination to commence immediately the proceedings under his charge.

The discussion of a successor to Secretary Belknap was of considerable length, but no decision arrived at, and there will probably be another Cabinet session about it. Assurance is given that the person who will be appointed to the office will be a man of high character and known position. BABCOCK LETTERS AND TELEGRAMS.

Mr. Banning, Chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, reports a resolution calling for the copies of all telegrms and correspondence relating to the military court of inquiry in the case of General Babcock. Adopted.

The House then adjourned. The session to-morrow is for the debate on the Hawaiian treaty only.

When the committee from the House appeared in the Senate there was a great sensation in the galleries, which by this time was packed, and upon the floor were many persons having the privilege there of. The presiding officer was compelled to demand order in the chamber before ecognizing the committee, Mr. Clyme and the other members of the committee when entering the Senate and being re-cognized in front of the desk, when he spoke as above in a distinct and clear shough very solemn tone.

After the committee retired Mr. Edwards, who had been speaking in opposition to the admission of Pinchback, resumed his argument. He said there was no such thing as a prima facia case before the Senate. The constitution compelled the Senate to judge of the election of this man as well of the certificate he presented. The Legislature which elected Pinchback may possibly have been the legal Legislature of Louisiana, but it did not come before the Senate with that boon of peace and equality which might have been under other "circumstances. He then referred to the frauds in Louisiana at some length, and said the admission of THE PINCHBACK CASE. at some length, and said the admission of Pinchback in the face of all the facts ould inflict a blow on our constitution which would last it to its grave. The Pinchback in the face of all the facts would inflict a blow on our constitution which would last it to its grave. The Senate was bound to come to a result which he would beglad to have otherwise. He (Edmunds) did not think that the Senators could excuse themselves from facing this question by the idea that the lapse of time had healed the case of its infirmities. If it had infirmities in 1873, it had infirmities now, and fatal infirmities. It was a fact that the body it pretended to be. He could not allow any hopes of party or party affection to draw him away one hair from the spirit of the Constitution and letter of the law. If they were given up there would be nothing else to rely on. The Senate should pause before taking the first sad step in making Senators instead of deciding on the legality of their election.

Mr. Morton said that from the beginning of this question he had been governed by political aspects and consequences, and he would continue to be so fearlessly. In 1872 the Republican majority in Louisiana was from 16,000 to 20,000. It was then that a conspiracy was formed to overcome that majority by violence. The great question before the Senate to overcome that majority by violence. The great question before the Senate to overcome that majority by violence. The great question before the Senate to cover come that majority by violence. The great question before the Senate to cover come that majority by violence and consequences, and he would continue to be so fearlessly. In 1872 the Republican majority in Louisiana was from 16,000 to 20,000. It was then that a conspiracy was formed to overcome that majority by violence. The great question before the Senate to cover come that majority by violence and consequences, and he would continue to be so fearlessly. In 1872 the Republican majority in Louisiana was from 16,000 to 20,000. It was then that a conspiracy should be a success. He believed it was not a success, but to refuse to control the fact that the traders have a consequence of the control that i there was a vacancy and the present Legislature would have a right to fill it. The Democrats understood this and when Pinchback should be rejected they would demand the admission of Eustace. The rejection of Pinchback would be a confirmation of the bloody would be a confirmation of the bloody would be a confirmation of the bloody the propersion of the fact that they hold their franchise so they enjoyed. To satisfy the people of this Milwaukee, March 3.—Dr. Garver. the trampling down of every precedent the Senate. To satisfy the people of this country that such action was just would be an arduous task. The recent history of Louisiana showed that while the democracy kept no faith with the Republicans they had recently attempted to destroy Mr. Kellog by impeaching him on the most frivolous grounds. The Senate knew what they were doing in Mississippi and would it give them said and comfort. Mr. Frelinghuysen said he proposed to vote against the amendment of the Senator from Vermont, (Edmunds.)

Mr. Bruce spoke in favor of seating Pinchback, he said: When he entered on the discharge of his duties in the Senate on a question which had aiready been elaborately discussed is was not necessary for him to make any extended remarks.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

The conference of railroad managers resulted in a settlement of all the difficulties. It was decided that a rate be fixed by the trunk lines leading out of Chicago on a basis of 40 cents, the present rate. Those from other points to based upon that. Regarding the western grain traffic, the rebate which Baltimore and Philadelphia have been paying was reduced from three to one and a half cents. The rates go into effect immediately.

A Washington special says that Sena-tor Morton has been requested by the President to accept the position of Secra-tary of War. Morton had an interview with the President this morning. The President is still greatly agitated.

FOREIGN NEWS.

ENGLAND.

London, March 3.—Winslow the Bos-ton forger was again brought before the court this morning and was finally com-mitted for extradition.

BRITISH MONEY MARKET.

The stock exchange was dull with a downward tendency in the early days of the week, Egyptian being particularly at the mercy of the bears on the numerous rumors. Yesterday all classes of securities began to display more activity and up to the close to-night there has been something like an excitement in the dealings. The default in the cash on hand for the payment of interest and drawn bonds of the Turkish loan of 1858, flattened all Turkish securities. American securities have been adversely affected by the new funding act. The discount market has been steady without material change. Money in good demand.

London, March 4.—The London Houshas the following: We understand a writterturnable in the Queen's Bench was served on Mr. Schenck, U. S. Minister, vesterday, at the instance of the Emma Mine Company. The writ was served on Mr. S. as he was entering the train at Easton Station. Mr. S. referred the officer to Lord Derby.

Easton Station, Mr.S. referred the officer to Lord Derby,
Mr. Cane has made his report on Egypt and her finance. He criticises the past Egyptian administration, and mentions a plan for consolidating the debt through the substitution of British for Egyptian credit, whereby the interest would be so reduced that Egypt might be in a position to purchase the canal shares without burdening the country, but this would be impossible because other governments would oppose it. He therefore suggests the conversion of the debt into 7 per cent stock, which would leave an annual surplus £2,000,000.

New Yonk, March 3.—At a business meeting of the Plymouth Church this meeting it was announced that Messra. Roper, Christianson and Leonyst were unable to try the case of Henry C. Bowen and brothers Case, Healy and Shelman appointed in their stead. A resolution and brothers Case, Healy and Sheiman appointed in their stead. A resolution was adopted declaring that the Plymouth Church has always understood and believed the advice submitted by the Advisory Council as leaning to the church and its committee has no option in the case; no charges are presented except to forward them to the committee appointed; the Council leaving to that committee the sole responsibility of deciding whether such charges are to be laid before an examining, ex-instructing or exfore an examining, ex-instructing or ex-committee upon the receipt of any charges which the persons presenting claim to be within the plan of the Council to forward the same at once to the Committee of Council with the request that they take such action as may seem best without the consideration of the church or any officer consideration of the church or any omcer thereof. Mr. Beecher said he was anx-ious to see the committee appointed in the case of Bowen proceed to business without delay. Adjourned.
